for Congress

Challenger Polling Results | May 2026

TOPLINES

Based on two challenger-commissioned polls, State Representative Tram Nguyen is currently leading the crowded six-way Democratic primary contest in MA-06 at 13%, while operating on a fraction of the budget. with the vast majority of voters still undecided.

BY THE NUMBERS

Schoen Cooperman Research completed a survey from March 20-24, commissioned by opponent John Beccia. After first reading, Tram Nguyen led the field of 6 candidates with 13%, followed by Beccia and other opponent Dan Koh, who both tied at 10%.

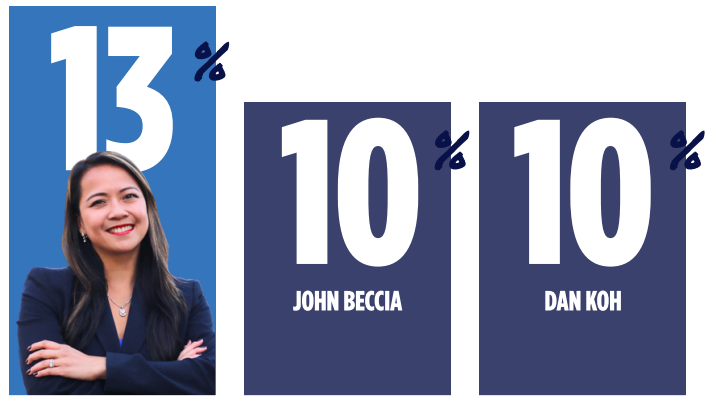

The results of the Beccia poll came just one day after another challenger's poll placed Tram Nguyen in a statistical dead heat for first place. From May 10-15, the Center for Strategic Politics conducted a survey commissioned by opponent Bethany Andres-Beck. After voters read biographies with positive and negative arguments for each candidate, Tram Nguyen polled at 13%, following only the poll's commissioner and opponent Jamie Belsito both tied at 14%. Notably, the margin of error is  $\pm 4.43\%$ . The methodology of this poll has been subject to scrutiny, yet even with a skewed instrument, Tram remains a leader of the pack.

HOW TO SUPPORT

To protect this lead as the primary enters its most critical phase, we must narrow the resource gap. Our opponents are spending unprecedented amounts of capital to buy what Tram has earned through years of dedicated public service. We need your immediate support to fuel our grassroots organizing, digital outreach, and voter contact operations.
